

Xiao-I Corporation Launches Its New Product "Hearview"- "AI Empowered Glasses for Deaf People" - Promoting a More Inclusive Society

May 20, 2024

SHANGHAI, May 20, 2024 /PRNewswire/ -- Xiao-I Corporation (NASDAQ: AIXI) ("Xiao-I" or the "Company"), a leading AI company, announced the launch of its new product -Hearview, which is "AI empowered glasses for deaf people." This innovative product aims to break down communication barriers and enhance the daily lives of the deaf community, allowing them to "see the sounds of the world."

Hearview is part of Xiao-I's broader product series tailored for the deaf and hard-of-hearing community. This series includes two products lines to assist the deaf community with both listening and speaking. The glasses are the first product in the listening product line that focuses on enabling the deaf to "hear" the world. The speaking product line focuses on enabling the world to "hear" the deaf.

Integrating multiple advanced AI technologies to provide a comprehensive solution for the deaf community, Hearview offers face-to-face communication by converting spoken words into text displayed on the lenses, ensuring clarity and ease in conversations. In addition, Hearview enhances entertainment experiences by transforming audio from live broadcasts and entertainment programs into text. To ensure user safety, the glasses are equipped with an environmental sound analysis system that alerts users to potential dangers through visual warnings.

Hearview empowers the deaf community by converting speech into text, enabling full participation in conversations, and entertainment. For more information about Hearview and to explore the complete product line, please visit: <https://us.xiaoi.com/productPage/hearview>.

According to the World Health Organization (WHO), approximately 466 million people worldwide have hearing loss, with over 9 million being profoundly deaf. This community faces unique challenges, including social isolation and communication barriers. Hearview aims to bridge these gaps, enhancing social participation and independence for deaf individuals.

Xiao-I Corporation remains committed to its vision of "improving everyone's life with innovative AI technology." Hearview is a testament to this vision, showcasing the company's dedication to enhancing the lives of the deaf community through technological innovation. The AI empowered glasses are a significant step toward this inclusive future.
